The Campaign

Several meetings have been conducted during this week by Mr. James H. Fisher, socialist orator of Calgary, on behalf of the workers. Mr. Fisher has been endeavoring to show to the workers the "fallacies" of the proposed prohibition act, which he claims is framed by the church and temperance element of the Province. In all his meetings he has allowed the opposition to present their cause, and some very sound arguments have resulted. On Sunday evening a meeting was held at the Workers' hall, Bellevue, where Mr. David Lewis, of Calgary, appeared for the temperance element. At Frack on Monday night Mr. Fisher invited a speaker to oppose him, and was met by Rev. Thomas Hart, of Hillcrest. The large audience enthusiastically applauded both speakers and the lectures throughout were most interesting. Before closing Mr. Fisher expressed his appreciation of a strong opponent, claiming that Mr. Hart was of a far different character to other supporters of temperance who dared to oppose his ideas. Both speakers met again at Blairmore on Tuesday night, and were again greeted by a crowded house. Mr. Fisher spoke for slightly over two hours, during which time everyone seemed to be intensely interested in the manner in which he outlined the possible effect of the proposed prohibition upon the working class, and in his explanation of the caliber of the individuals responsible for the drafting of the "big game" act. Mr. Hart was given the platform for ten minutes and was repeatedly stormed with vociferous cheering. Mr. Hart's arguments are strong and to the point. He evidently does not intend to circle around the world to arrive at the goal of his argument. His arguments are so convincing as to elicit the endorsement and praise of even those who are interested in the liquor traffic. Last night a debate took place in the opera house at Coleman, Mr. Hart taking the affirmative and Mr. Fisher the negative. The spacious hall could not accommodate the people who crowded around to hear the arguments for and against the proposed act. Not in the history of The Press has a debate of such interest been conducted. Both sides of the question were strongly presented and neither of the speakers seemed to lack the ability to defend any particular point. Mr. J. Johnson, deputy mayor of the town of Coleman, presided at the meeting, and the order was maintained throughout.

Blairmore Red Cross

NOTICE—The Wednesday afternoon next, July 21st, from 3 to 5 o'clock, Mrs. Mark Brown will give a tea in aid of the Red Cross Funds at the home at Blossomdale Ranch, Frack. Mrs. Brown issues a hearty invitation to the people in all of the West towns to be present there next Wednesday afternoon. Regular sewing meeting Tuesday afternoon next.

Mrs. Brown asks us to acknowledge through our notes the amount of $12.00 collected by her in Bellevue in aid of the Red Cross Funds and to extend to the Bellevue people most hearty thanks for same.

The officers of Crow's Nest Encampment No. 8 will be installed by District Deputy Green at a special meeting to be held in the L.O.O.F. hall on Tuesday night next, following the regular meeting of the subordinate lodge.

The inquiry into Alberta oil companies opened at Calgary on Tuesday and was adjourned till August 18th, owing to the fact that details are lacking in the majority of complaints made. During adjournment all cases complained of will be gone into and further details sought from complainants.

For and Against

Joe Willard says liquor is an unexcusable evil. Tom Jones thinks the same thing when it is his turn to lay a round.

Under the Act a vendor of the house may sell to a druggist only a pint at a time, but to a vet. one gallon. Is it because the framers of the Act thought that the vet. would be more to be trusted than the druggist?

I am opposed to prohibition because prohibition is opposed to temperance. Every argument in favor of prohibition is an argument against temperance and every argument in favor of temperance is an argument against prohibition.—J. B. Osborne.

The best advertisement the prohibitionists have is the liquor advertisements, for the more they say the more value of the mark they get for they never hope to convince anybody by the rubbish they are trying to ram down the public throat.—Vulcan Advocate.

The Sydney Post of July 15th states that several cases of drunken women had been observed on the streets there in one week, and that apparently the imposition of fines does not have the desired effect. Sydney is a part of one of the prohibitionist's strongholds, where even the children and children can either approach the open house cupboard or obtain the goods through the illicit system. Under the licensed system of Alberta children, or even youths, cannot obtain liquor; yet to spite of the knowledge of this fact some of those who suppose the present liquor system are not backward in quoting the dangers that surround the boy. When the law is broken, even in the case of twenty-one who are expected to self-control, he is considered capable of casting an intelligent vote, etc., but the temperance people desire to remove such privileges and deprive him of even this right, and it is felt by the liquor people that if the prohibitionists are successful in their present campaign they will go still further and try to prohibit our young men from smoking tobacco, or kissing their sweethearts except in the presence of the girl's parents.

As a matter of fact, our present license act is abused through the treating system, and there is need for reform in that direction. Most of the so-called drunkards of today are not of those who spend money over the bar, but who lounge around our licensed houses to be treated by their so-called friends. Some feel that this could be remedied by reducing the number of our licensed houses. We feel positive that the fewer houses would create more drinks, because these "habituals" would have the opportunity of imposing their presence upon a greater number of "friends" at any one time, when drinks would come faster and have a more effect.

Mr. Mac has been said from the platform regarding the drunkards who are gathered up from the gutters, being such an enormous percentage of our population, while police statistics of the "Crows' Nest" show that such cases are rare and far between, and that in every case they are the direct result of the treating system. Why not amend the Act to restrict any person from buying a drink for those who are known to be slaves to the free system, and cancel the license of the bartender who serves a drink to the individual already suffering from the effects of over-indulgence.

We know from experience that under the proposed act the government will benefit from increased revenue on account of the illicit traffic. We know of one case where some years ago the sum of $150 annually was paid to the government as a license for one establishment, and that since the introduction of the prohibitory measure as high as $1200 comes into the hands of that government in four months from fines and forfeitures on account of the illicit traffic in liquor.

In that same district the establishments known as "blind pigs" are fully dressed, generally the living quarters of poultry, cans, sheep-dressed pigs—when it comes to be difficult to procure a drink of any kind in a pure state, where strong drinks are adulterated by the steepings of tea and tobacco, and where one can swallow something more than the liquor and pure atmosphere. Under the present system in Alberta, any man may feel free to enter the front door of a licensed bar, where he expects and does obtain right service, a service approved of and legitimized by the government and people of the province. Under prohibition he would be obliged to evade the vigilance of the police or detectives, who will be employed by the government for service all over the province. Detectives will be necessary, where under the present system the licensed victuallers naturally must conduct their own detective work for self protection and at no cost to the government whatever.

We say again, there is room for reform, but it should be absolute reform as far as the liquor traffic is concerned. The above represents the arguments raised by the liquor people against the proposed liquor act. Some of them are strong and well worth considering.

"Drink it dry, drink it dry, John Barclay must die, Drink it dry, drink it dry" Then hear the other exclaim's y's "Alberta's dry—no no!" (By Putnam, the Post Laureate of the C. S. Press.)

Thomas Roche, ex-mayor of Sentinel, spent Saturday in Coleman. Mr. Roche reports the grape vines suffering from the effects of the wet weather. He, too, claims that a dry Alberta would improve conditions at the present time.

Qualifications of Voters in Blestic

Many people seem uncertain as to who may and who may not vote on the referendum on the liquor act, on July 24. The following synopsis from the Alberta Election Act applies to this vote, and will clear up any doubts on the matter:

Any elector may only vote at the polling station of the polling division in which he is a resident at the time of voting.

Any person otherwise qualified who is at the date of the issue of the writ of election a resident of an electoral division and who has been a resident of Alberta for one year immediately prior to said date but who has not been a resident of his electoral division for three months immediately prior to said date, may vote in the electoral division in which he was a resident during the last three months of his year's residence in Alberta.

Pictures don't lie, but hairs figure—
JAMES H. FISHER.

We must resent the action of some anti-pollutionists in tearing down or defacing a bulletin board erected on private property by supporters of the prohibition movement. Such an act will do more to help the cause of prohibition in Blairmore than all other efforts combined.

It is a hundred years since the Treaty of Ghent closed the last war between the British Empire and the United States of America; for a full century two great powers, with interests which occasionally conflicted and with tempers which were not invariably conciliatory, have lived at peace and in steadily increasing good will. Plans were on foot to celebrate this great event, and last Kaiser and Germany-willed otherwise, this summer would have seen a celebration of great magnitude and of exceptional interest and value. But the war came. Canadians are lending all their energies, and devoting all their thoughts to the work of fighting for the British Empire, and our friends of the United States have been consumed with anxieties and absorbing business in the circumstances, and plans for a great commemoration of the First Century of Peace between the Great Empire and the United States have had to be abandoned.

Those in charge of the movement, after consulting the leading men connected with it in both Canada and the United States, decided on a modified programme. The aspect of the plans which contemplated public rejoicings have been postponed, but those portions—the larger portions, it should be said—the plans which had emphasis on education and on the cultivation of a reasonable frame of mind in the conduct of international relations are being preserved. The public rejoicings are only postponed, but the organizations formed to carry out the commemoration were encouraged to continue their work of preparation and education, so that when the war is over and all has crowned the British and victors, fitting festivities might be held. These activities are likely to be all the more impressive in view of the fact that we shall be celebrating not only the conclusion of a century of peace with our relations, but the overthrow of those forces which have, for so many years, menaced the peace of the whole world.

The Canadian Peace Centenary Association—which, by the way, is not and never has been a "Peace Society"—has just issued a pamphlet which sheds an interesting light on the temper prevailing between the Canadian and American peoples. The initiation of the "Century of Ghent" took place on February 15th, 1815, and on the centenary date of 1915, the messages were received by the President of the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, Sir Edmund Walker, and the Governors of the States, between cities and towns on both sides of the line; between Boards of Trade, and even between individual firms and their correspondents across the border. These are printed in the pamphlet, and bear witness to a cordiality of spirit which affords a welcome contrast to the dark animosities which make other continents so dreadful a spectacle today.

These messages display a wonderful unanimity of conviction, and it may be added that many of them from the English-speaking Republic convey the heartiest good wishes for the success of our cause. Another feature of the pamphlet is the description of the services held on Sunday, February 14th, in an extraordinary number of churches in both countries.

The public celebrations of this triumph of reasonableness and goodwill should become of the earliest events after the conclusion of the present dreadful struggle. The Canadian Peace Centenary Association, and its corresponding body in the United States, the American Peace Centenary Committee, have made all the necessary arrangements, and it is to be hoped that their work will be crowned with success.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Paterson returned from Medicine Hat and Lethbridge on Sunday night.

Canadian Red Cross

A group of wounded Canadian soldiers attached to various Canadian regiments have sent a joint letter to the Canadian Red Cross expressing their thanks for "your ever vigilant attention to our comfort while on the battlefield, and the kindnesses extended to the wounded and afflicted who came under your care. Soldiers of all ranks are fond in their prayers of the efficiency of the Canadian Red Cross."

In the hospitals back of the front line there are terrible realities which we who stay at home do not realize. The men who are brought back to the front line are the most injured and afflicted who come under your care. Soldiers of all ranks are fond in their prayers of the efficiency of the Canadian Red Cross."

Personal Liberty

By E. L. Nix

We hear a lot of talk these days about personal liberty.

And I am one of those who say that personal liberty is not a thing that we can have.

There's the idea that we can have freedom of speech and freedom of religion and freedom of conscience and freedom of thought and freedom of action and freedom of expression and freedom of movement and We must advise the public to beware of those stores who do not advertise. The publication of an advertisement is a sign of respectability, of honest methods and fair dealing as well as the owner's belief in his own goods. The advertiser is a business man who expresses his faith in his community and his business. He has something to tell you and must back up his printed statements. A customer need never fear being robbed or bilked in the store of the man who constantly uses printer's ink, and is having a good trade by a description of his goods and a quotation of the prices at which they are offered. He is seeking and deserves the confidence of the public.

On obtaining permission from the landlord, a large sign board was erected this week on the vacant lot at the corner of Seventh Avenue and Victoria Street, and was being used as a bulletin board by the prohibitionists. After standing about twelve hours it was torn down by a number of men influenced by representatives of the liquor traffic. The act is deserving of every condemnation and will no doubt be remembered on election day. Such actions will never tend to help promote the anti-prohibition cause, but on the contrary will give many a just reason for supporting the prohibition movement. As this sign board was strictly private property, it is very likely that some prosecutions will follow and those responsible may be brought to justice.

WHO AM I?

1. I was born of Hysteria—my heart is cruel—my eyes are blind to justice. I glory in jails. Intimidation is my best friend.
2. I dethrone reason, but have no brains. I breed hatred, strife and bitterness where peace and friendship should reign.
3. You find my brethren in many small towns, but never in large cities, and where there are there is always trouble.
4. I make a great noise but never tell the truth. My tongue is dipped in gall. I take much but give nothing in return but deception, fraud and failure.
5. When I speak, Fanaticism is glad, Oppression shouts for joy and Freedom weeps.
6. I feed upon false statistics, garnished by imagination and seasoned with hypocrisy.
7. I cause bankruptcy and devour the substance of others wherever I go.
8. I have turned ministers of the gospel from true laborers into the crooked paths of politics, greatly impairing their influence with the masses.
9. I weaken the weak and destroy the strong. I promote compromise with a politician's aim.
10. I breed sneaks, liars, hypocrites and petty criminals. The non-resister is my darling out-group. This is why I prefer him to the legitimate hotel-keeper.
11. I rob the province of revenue. I increase the taxes I deprive real estate owners of rents. I am a friend of the mail order business.
12. I AM THE PROPOSED LIQUOR ACT.

On July 21st maintain your rights, protect your property, and keep Alberta prosperous by marking your ballot thus:
